Now that’s a lock.
A common weak link in the chain of custody of evidence is the interval from when evidence leaves the hands of the person who collected it, until it is properly logged by the evidence technician.

That's why a clear, well-documented chain of custody must be maintained at all times – indisputable proof that evidence has been stored securely and its integrity has been preserved, from the moment it’s seized, presented in court, released or destroyed.

Our DSM evidence lockers provide the utmost security and integrity of evidence preservation and retrieval. And help enable the processes that regulatory agencies look on favorably when assessing your agency for accreditation.

Spacesaver, the preferred choice of law enforcement agencies across North America, ensures your evidence is secure. And your chain of custody – uncompromised.

Even the most airtight evidence is useless if there is reasonable doubt in the chain of custody. Which can easily happen if it loses its integrity due to mishandling or tampering.

DSM Standard Evidence Lockers Designed for safe, secure chain of custody evidence handling, modular evidence lockers come in over 35 standard configurations in both pass-thru and non-pass-thru designs.

We can help, with a wide range of systems for every area of your lab and every phase of your operations. Spacesaver High-Density Mobile Storage (HDMS) Systems, for example, can securely store firearms, evidence and archives in just half the space of stationary shelving.

Court clerks may get hundreds of requests daily for active files from judges, attorneys and the public. Quite possibly, your stored records and files are scattered throughout different rooms on multiple floors of your courthouse, making locating and retrieving files cumbersome and inefficient.

Spacesaver can help you manage your files and records in easily accessible storage areas. Our High-Density Mobile Storage (HDMS) Systems, for example, are ideal for storing open, closed and archived case files and court records. Available in powered, mechanical-assist or manual configurations, Spacesaver HDMS Systems can double your file storage capacity in a given space. Eliminate the need for space-eating conventional filing cabinets. Keep your records organized and accounted for. Even improve your workflow and productivity.

Spacesaver can help you with your other storage challenges, too, like secure short-term evidence handling. DSM non-pass-thru evidence lockers provide failsafe temporary storage that’s completely secure and accessible only by authorized court personnel – so evidence can be retrieved quickly and easily when it’s called for in court.

Courthouses all over are struggling with a common problem: the explosion in the volume of records and files generated by cases coming through their courts. Highly efficient Spacesaver storage systems provide the winning solutions you need.
